

Our mission: strengthening commercial ties among nations

ICC is – and has been throughout its long existence – a steadfast rallying point for those who believe, like our founders, that strengthening commercial ties among nations is not only good for business but good for global living standards and good for peace. ICC was founded in 1919 in Paris. Today, ICC represents thousands of companies and associations in more than 130 countries and transmits their interests to high official representatives including the UN, EU, WTO, OECD and G20, where ICC has been granted the highest level consultative status.

Prestige

Being an ICC member is a question of prestige.

Principles

ICC creates rules and principles that are fully respected and used in everyday business and have become one of the most important pillars of international trade.

Partnership

ICC provides a large portfolio of services fundamental for foreign trade, such as educational and advisory services, as well as creating opportunities for establishing partnership with foreign business partners.
